

KLIPPEL expands the managing board

KLIPPEL Press Release May 2020

CONTINUITY AND FUTURE

We are pleased to announce that Benjamin Barth has been appointed general manager to the managing board of KLIPPEL GmbH. Mr. Barth has gained a lot of experience in his career that he would like to bring to his new position. He started with an apprenticeship as a watchmaker in Glashütte. After this he completed his studies as an industrial engineer at the University of Applied Sciences Dresden before joining KLIPPEL as an intern eight years ago. He has been a Quality Manager in the company since 2013 and took over the management of R&D projects in 2015. In addition to his previous functions, Benjamin Barth has also been responsible for managing all business processes for the past two years.

"Klippel is a company with innovative products, great expertise and wide range of exciting customers. In the past seven years, I have enjoyed working with my bright colleagues by optimizing processes and leading technical projects. As part of the management team, I look forward to strategically nurturing continued organic growth of our company. In this undertaking I am inspired by the precision and reliability of beautifully engineered movements of mechanical watches, presenting well-functioning systems," comments Barth.

With his nomination as general manager in May 2020, Benjamin Barth joins Wolfgang Klippe (president) and Uta Klippe (vice president) in assuming responsibility for the steadily growing company. The expansion of the managing board will enable Dr. Klippe to focus more on research and education as well as innovatively advance the company's strategic product management.
